HANNA THE LEADER

His Election as National Committee Chairman Was Expected.

NEW YORK CITY TO BE HEADQUARTERS

The Resolution Making the Ohio Manager Also Chairman of the Executive Committee Came as a Surprise and Is a New Venture.

St. Louis, June 20.—The election yesterday of Mark Hanna as chairman of the new republican national committee was no surprise, but the resolution making the chairman of the national committee ex-officio chairman of the executive committee is a new departure. It is said to have been suggested by Mr. Hanna himself. It has always been the custom in the national and state committees of all parties to elect a party leader as chairman of the executive committee, but this year Mr. Hanna will take the lead in all matters in the campaign. After Mr. Manley had called the national committee together yesterday it was announced that Senator Quay had positively refused to permit his name to be used in connection with the chairmanship. Then, on motion of Committeeman Payne of Wisconsin, seconded by Pennsylvania and New York, Mr. Hanna was unanimously elected chairman of the committee. J. H. Manley of Maine was elected temporary secretary, James S. Burke of Pennsylvania assistant secretary, and Col. H. L. Swords of Indiana was re-elected sergeant-at-arms. Behind closed doors there was an animated discussion of the question of the location of the permanent headquarters for the campaign. Chairman Hanna wanted the headquarters in Cleveland, but there was an emphatic protest by the members from the east and south. They warned Mr. Hanna that the Ohio idea could be carried too far. Chicago also made a bid for headquarters. But the vigorous objections of the committees from New England and the south convinced Mr. Hanna, and he finally agreed that the headquarters should be located in New York city. The only formal action taken in reference to the matter was to refer it to the executive committee when appointed, but after the meeting had adjourned it was stated by several members of the committee who were in the confidence of the new chairman that the question is as good as settled, and New York will, as usual, be the campaign headquarters. The next meeting will probably be held in New York city after Chairman Hanna has consulted with his candidates and appointed his executive committee. Cornelius N. Bliss of New York will probably be re-appointed treasurer of the committee if he will accept the place.

LAURELS FOR LODGE.

The Young Massachusetts Senator Won Honor for Himself at St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 20.—One of the men who has carried off honors at the convention and goes home to his constituents strong in power and prestige is Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. He came here almost a stranger to the republicans of the west. His sturdy manhood and determined and successful fight for the gold standard won him respect and admiration. From the beginning of the fight for sound money he has stood in the front ranks of those who were its champions, and he soon became one of the popular figures of this convention. Whenever and wherever he appeared he received enthusiastic applause, and the gossips predict that the young senator from Massachusetts will continue a conspicuous figure in the republican national politics.

ADDICKS STILL A REPUBLICAN

Wants To Be a United States Senator and Not Governor.

Wilmington, Del., June 20.—The defeated Addicks delegation returned from St. Louis last evening. "We are all republicans," Mr. Addicks remarked, but further than that he would not comment on the recent national convention. Regarding the move of his friends to run him for governor, Addicks said: "I would not accept the office of governor. I am a candidate for but one thing—United States senator."

Praised for Not Bolting.

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 20.—The action of the Wyoming delegation at St. Louis in refusing to bolt with Colorado, Idaho and other western states meets with almost general approval and praise by the republicans here. Under the instructions voted by the state convention which elected the delegates there was nothing for them to do but to stay in the convention. The instructions as to silver were merely to use all honorable means to secure its recognition in the national platform.

Wants $10,000 for a Broken Hip.

Hartford, June 20.—The suit of Eliza Carpenter, ex-judge of the supreme court, against the Hartford Street Railroad company was argued on a demurrer before Judge Robinson in the superior court yesterday. Judge Carpenter sues to recover $10,000 for a broken hip.

DINED BY GOV. MORTON.
Greater New York Commissioners Entertained at Ellerslie.

Rhinecliff, N. Y., June 20.—Gov. Morton entertained at dinner last night at his Ellerslie house the members of the Greater New York commission. The dinner was intended as a social affair, Gov. Morton desiring to bring the commissioners together in a pleasant way and introduce those who were not already acquainted. Just before the dinner was served it was discovered that there were thirteen in the party and the famous "hoo-doo" number alarmed the superstitious guests. Gov. Morton, however, came to the rescue and announced that his daughters, the Misses Mary, Alice and Helen, would grace the banquet board with their presence. Invitations for the dinner had been extended to the fifteen commissioners. Andrew H. Green, who has been called the "Father of Greater New York," was unable to be present, owing to his serious illness. Seth Low sent word that a sprained knee still kept him in doors, and Mayor Wurster of Brooklyn said illness would prevent his attendance. Gov. Morton sat at the head of the table, and at his right hand sat Mayor Strong of New York, and at the left Mayor Gleason of Long Island City. After the dinner the commissioners informally discussed the Greater New York prospects. It was the opinion of those present that there was none too much time in which to complete the labors of the commission and it was agreed that a meeting should be held at the earliest possible moment. Gov. Morton showed his guests about his estate before the dinner. Mayor Gleason was particularly delighted with the place. Standing on the porch and looking over the beautiful scenery he turned to those near him and said: "Think of a man wanting to be president with such a grand place to live on, sure a man's happier here than in the White House."

FIRE BRIGADE.

The International Tournament Successfully Opened in London.

London, June 20.—The International Fire Brigade tournament was successfully opened at the Royal Agricultural Hall, London, last evening. Chiefs Hosmer of Massachusetts and Eton of Bertford, Conn., were present on behalf of the International Fire Engineers' association of the United States, and representatives from the New York, Illinois, Michigan and Florida associations were also in attendance. Messrs. Atchison and Litchfield represented respectively the Hamilton, Ont., and the New York fire underwriters. Capt. Simonds of London delivered an address of welcome to the visitors, to which Mr. Litchfield responded. Capt. Beasley introduced Messrs. Benoit and Stevenson of Canada to Capt. Simonds, and the Canadian team drove around the arena and were heartily cheered.

Mr. Benoit in conversation with a representative of the United Press expressed himself as greatly pleased with the reception accorded the visiting delegations. He also said he considered the British departments' steamer and manual work excellent, but did not think their ladder work compared favorably with that of the Canadians.

Milwaukee Car Strike Declared Off.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 20.—The street railway boycott is at an end. It was formally declared off last night by President James Flint of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees; that is, it was declared off so far as it was within his power to do so. He said this morning that his organization has discontinued running busses and no longer asks the public to refrain from riding in the cars.

International Pressmen's Officers.

Chicago, June 20.—The convention of the International Pressmen's union has elected the following officers: President, Theo. Galeosikovsky of St. Louis; first vice-president, J. Birmingham, Washington; second vice-president, James W. Connor, Philadelphia; third vice-president, Frank Palpuso, St. Paul; secretary-treasurer, James Gilson, Brooklyn; delegate to American Federation of Labor congress, Jesse Johnson, Nashville.

St. Louis in Port at New York.

New York, June 20.—Steamer St. Louis, Randle, Southampton June 13, with merchandise, 275 cabin and 296 steerage passengers arrived last night. Time of passage 6 days, 10 hours and 13 minutes. Daily runs: 453, 502, 485, 502, 501, 501 and 443 to Sandy Hook. Total, 3,120 knots. Average speed 20.2 knots per hour. Had light winds and fogs.

For Stealing a Horse and Carrion.

Utica, June 20.—Judge Bill has held over for trial in the superior court in default of $800 bonds Joseph Schieffelin of Quebec for stealing a horse and carriage belonging to Dr. George M. M. of this city.

Owego McKinleyites Ratify.

Owego, N. Y., June 20.—A ratifying McKinley ratification meeting was held in the Wilson Opera house last evening. Congressman G. W. Ray of Norwich addressed the assemblage.

HIGHLY SIGNIFICANT

So Senator Stewart Considers the Action of the Silver Men.

TO HIM IT IS A HOPEFUL SIGN

Now Remains To Be Seen Whether Politics and Intrigue Will Debauch the Convention at Chicago, He Says.

New York, June 20.—Senator Stewart of Nevada, who is at the Hoffman house, regards the action of Senator Teller and the men who followed him out of the St. Louis convention as significant in the highest degree. Senator Teller represented the real sentiment of nine-tenths of the people west of the Mississippi river," said he, "and three-fourths of the people of the United States. To me it appears a hopeful sign, and very remarkable that 105 men could have been found in the convention to vote as they did against the consolidated bank influence of Europe and America. The friends of silver have succeeded in electing a majority of the delegates in favor of the United States and against English rule, and are anxious to make an honest effort to rescue the party, which Cleveland betrayed, from the control of Pierpont Morgan, the Belmonts and their associates. It remains to be seen whether politics and intrigue will debase the convention at Chicago." Galusha A. Grow, congressman-at-large from Pennsylvania, says that the republican bolt will not mean a loss of more than seventy-five votes in the electoral college.

The Silverites' Address.

St. Louis, June 20.—The address to the people of the United States adopted by the bolting silverites at their secret meeting is a lengthy document. While it contains much in the nature of a silver coinage argument, the concluding paragraph shows the determination of the bolting delegates to bring about, if possible, the nomination of senator Henry M. Teller of Colorado as the candidate for the presidency on a platform having for its cardinal principle the free and unlimited coinage of silver. In this connection the address reads: "We have endeavored in a plain way to set the matter before the eyes of our fellow citizens. We invoke the union of all men and all parties who believe that the time has come for the triumph of justice. It is an hour when the people may speak for themselves as individuals and through conventions yet to be held. It is the right of every citizen to indicate his preference. With this in view we offer to the forthcoming conventions and to the people the name of a man for the presidency of the United States whose life, in public and private, represents those distinguished virtues which adorned the days and the deeds of men of the earlier time of this republic; a return to which virtues is requisite for the prosperity and contentment of the people, and the perpetuity and commanding example of free institutions. The name is Henry M. Teller—a man of the people and for the people. He is of no section. His experience and service, his devotion to the common justice and the common cause of his fellow-citizens have been as wide as the country. We believe that the people of the United States have in their hearts the knowledge that he has had the interests in his purpose through all the work of an exalted life."

ONLY ELEVEN KILLED.

Government Report of the Loss Sustained by Rebels at Najasa Not True.

Havana, June 20.—Private advices from Camaguey are to the effect that the rebel loss in the battle of Najasa was only eleven killed and forty-nine wounded, instead of 500 killed and wounded as was stated in the official report of the fight. The opinion is gaining ground here that the Spanish reports of victory were untrue. It is said that Maximo Gomez, the rebel commander-in-chief, is marching towards the railway between Nuevitas and Puerto Principe, his intention being to cut off communication between the two cities. Advices from Manzanillo, province of Santiago de Cuba, show that numerous parties of rebels belonging to the commands of Rabi and Jose Maceo are concentrating in the vicinity of that city. Every precaution is taken by the Spanish commander there to prevent or repulse an attack on the city.

AT MCKINLEY'S HOME

The Successful Candidate Receives Many Messages from Friends.

SUPPORT PLEDGED; VICTORY ASSURED

Many Distinguished Callers from All Parts of the Country—Delegations from Neighboring Towns Call upon the Scene at Canton.

Canton, O., June 20.—The telegrams and messages of congratulation with assurances of support and success at the polls next fall are still pouring in at the McKinley residence by the hundreds from all parts of the country. Several enthusiastic delegations, numbering from 100 to 4,000 persons, from neighboring towns, with brass bands and banners, have visited Canton and paid their respects to the republican nominee. Numerous distinguished republicans from a distance have also visited Major McKinley to extend their congratulations and leave their assurances of hearty support. Mrs. McKinley has also received many congratulations at the success of her distinguished husband from women in all parts of the United States. Major McKinley expressed particularly hearty satisfaction over the numerous responses from the far west upholding his nomination and the platform and promising support. Among the delegations that called at the McKinley residence was a body of commercial travelers representing nearly every state in the union who happened to be gathered in Canton. The delegation was under the command of Capt. H. F. Weston of Pennsylvania, Col. J. H. Kenton of Michigan and Capt. T. G. Ebels of Ohio. Capt. Weston presented the club to the major. The losses by theft Thursday night are greater than at first reported. Eleven rifled pocket books were found on the grounds about the house, and one man had a valuable diamond stud torn from his shirt front. A grand reception was accorded the returning Cantonese last night. With delegations from neighboring counties they completely filled the lawn surrounding the McKinley residence. Speeches congratulating Major McKinley were made by spokesmen of the delegations and the major, mounted on a dry goods box, with great emotion, fittingly replied. Later the New York McKinley delegates arrived on their way home from St. Louis and complimentary speeches were exchanged. Incidents more or less interesting have not been wanting, as for instance the arrival of J. W. Smith, a colored man of Ohio, who insisted upon seeing the major to present in person an application for a position. He failed to see him, however.

REPUBLICAN EMBLEM.

Chairman Hanna Recommends the Design Presented by Mrs. Strong.

St. Louis, June 20.—The following, addressed to the republican party of the United States, has been received for publication: "In recognition of the courtesy of Mrs. H. W. B. Strong of Los Angeles, Cal., in presenting to the republican national convention, through its chairman and the chairman of each state, the adopted republican emblem of 1892, made of California pampas plumes, the only American product cultivated for the beautiful, I do hereby recommend to the party the use of this emblem, in red, white and blue pampas, mounted on shape of a staff, for parades and interior decorations."

MARY HANNA, Chairman."

WHITNEY WILL ATTEND.

Agree To Go to the Democratic Convention at Saratoga as a Delegate.

New York, June 20.—J. W. Hinckley, chairman of the democratic state committee, said this morning that he had talked with William C. Whitney, and that the latter had agreed to go as a delegate to the state convention at Saratoga. Mr. Hinckley further said that he favored the election of Mr. Whitney as chairman of the convention, and that he will urge Mr. Whitney very strongly to accept the position and make a speech voicing the sentiment of this state on the currency question. Mr. Hinckley expressed a belief that the coming convention at Saratoga will be one of the most representative in the history of the party.

Big Blaze at Bradford, Pa.

Bradford, Pa., June 20.—Fire broke out here about 9:45 last night in the Whithead building, a wooden structure on the south side of Main street between Kennedy and Chambers streets, burning everything between those points, including the Half Dime restaurant, Bay State hotel and the Bondhjem building. Loss, $150,000; insurance unknown. No lives were lost, so far as known.

Wanamaker Pleased.

Philadelphia, June 20.—Ex-Postmaster General Wanamaker, who returned from Europe yesterday, is highly pleased with the nomination of McKinley and Hobart. ## Bank President Wyckoff Better.

New York, June 20.—George H. Wyckoff, president of the Bank of New Amsterdam, continues to improve. Last night was by far the best he has had since he was shot down by George H. Semple on his refusal to give him $6,000. Mr. Wyckoff's chances for recovery improve each day. The body of Semple was sent to Chicago for interment.

Star Bolter Upheld at Home.

Salt Lake, June 20.—Comment here was generally favorable to the action of the men who left the St. Louis convention.

M'KINLEY'S CABINET.

Politicians Already Discussing Its Possible Personnel.

St. Louis, June 20.—The few republican politicians who had not left the city last evening discussed the personnel of McKinley's cabinet, in the event of his election. As a vigorous foreign policy will be one of the features of Mr. McKinley's administration he would manifestly give much care to the selection of his secretary of state. Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy of New York, who was President Harrison's secretary of the navy, is well regarded by some of the men whose influence with McKinley will be very great. Gen. Tracy is a brilliant lawyer, and it was an open secret in Washington that at the time of the Civilian complications, growing out of the Baltimore incident, Gen. Tracy was the president's trusted adviser on all the changing phases of that very embarrassing problem.</

YARNS SPUN BY GAMBLERS

Old Scho's Biggest Scratch at Keno and Faro.

The Man Who Died After the Cards Had Run Against Him—Running a Faro
Bank with Only Five Dollar Roll.

"It does beat all how cards will sometimes keep a runnin' all one way for a long time," remarked Old Scho, apropos of nothing in particular, during an informal meeting of the Gladstone club, as he toyed with a stack of red chips, which, like all their blue and white and yellow companions in this city, have become useless, except as counters in an innocent game of whist or casino, since the reform wave came along and closed up all the places where men used to gamble on the green, says an Albany correspondent of the New York Sun.

Old Scho heaved a meditative sigh, reflectively stroked his white chin whiskers, and looked up and around to observe whether any of the other members were listening to him. Having satisfied himself that there were at least three or four who were willing to give willing ears to the yarns that he spins on the slightest provocation, or no provocation at all, he continued:

"I remember one night, years ago, when Paddy Martin was running a keno joint up here in Broadway, I made the biggest scratch of my life. It was like this: I'm broke, an' I'm just going out when a friend o' mine comes in an' says to him: 'Lemme have ten dollars, will ye?' He puts his hand in his pocket and pulls out ten dollars an' gives it to me. I go in an' I bet just one card, for a half dollar, an' I win the pool. There was $77 in the pool. Well, I don't play no more keno that night, but I go over to the White house an' I go up again the bank, an' I win $2,700. I simply can't lose a bet. I win all the time that night."

As those who had been listening were old and well-seasoned members of the Gladstone club, whose purpose is, and is distinctly specified in its articles of incorporation, the promotion of the social enjoyment and intellectual development of its members, they did not show that they had been profoundly impressed by Old Scho's narrative. They had often heard him tell similar stories, all of which he warranted to be true in every detail. But the old man was not discouraged by the apparent want of appreciation on the part of his audience. With a little preliminary cough which had no suggestion of an apology in its sound, he began again:

"I remember another time, up in Saratoga one night, I see Cull Holland with $35 with two cents off the roulette wheel in Cale Mitchell's. Then he goes over again the faro bank an' wins something like $2,000."

This time the solemn-looking member, with the long, flowing, black mustache, felt himself impelled to ask:

"How could he win anything with two cents? They wouldn't let him put it down."

"Oh, yes they would. They'd let him put anything down, even a brass button, and pay him, too. Of course, they knew him well, an' he'd been losing quite a little money."

A brief period of silence intervened, during which the old man stroked his whiskers three times. Then he resumed his discourse:

"An' then again, I've seen the cards run agin a man all night. I remember one night when I was dealing faro bank in Chicago, there was a man playing—he was the brother of some senator; I forgot his name now—an' he lose $33 bet-right straight off the reel. He gets a stand-off now an' then, but he never picks a bet off the layout. Biomey he win a few bets, but putty soon he lose again, an' along to'rd midnight I guess he's putty near broke. He reaches down in his pocket and pulls out a $50 bill, an' he hands it over an' says: 'Put that on the five.' I put it on the five, an' she lose the next turn. Well, that man he just gave one gasp an' fell back in his chair. Some of the players that was sitting alongside of him began to rub his hands, an' one man called for water. They thought he'd fainted. But I looked at him just once an' I says: 'Oh, no, he ain't fainted; he's dead.' You see, just because they are on the outside they can only see the surface. It does not matter in the least what they think.—Detroit Free Press."

Then the solemn-looking member spoke up again and remarked:

"Well, now I'll tell you people just one little story. It's little, but it's true. I see a fellow go up against the faro bank up in Johnny Mack's one night and he only has half a dollar to begin with, and he begins to play the high card, and I'm blamed if he don't beat every turn through a whole deal, from top to bottom. At the end of the deal he has about $16."

"How much did he bet at a time?" asked the smooth-faced, dark-haired member with the streak of gray at his temples.

"Only 50 cents, five white chips, all the way through the deal."

"Then he couldn't have had $16, even if he beat every turn, for there are only 25 turns in a deal."

"Aw, say, you're too particular. He might have bet a little more toward the last. Anyway, he had about $16."

"Did he win any more or did he lose it all again?" inquired the member with the flowing gray mustache and the slouch hat.

"I really don't know. I came away just then."

"You must have been broke."

"Why?"

"Else a team of horses couldn't have dragged you away."

"Oh, I don't know. I guess I've come away winner as often as most people."

"Yes, I guess that's so, too."

"Talk about being broke," resumed Old Scho, who had been smoking vigorously while the others were talking, "reminds me of one time when me an' another fellow out in Chicago run a faro bank for three days with only $5 in the bank roll. You see, we had the use of the rooms and the layout, but we couldn't get no money, so we just thought we'd take a chance. We had several close calls. One time a fellow had out about $200 worth of chips, but he kept a-playing, an' of course he lost it all back again. Another time some small players got $4 of our $5, an' things looked mighty blue for us. At last there came along a fellow with a big wad one night, an' the cards go agin him from the start. Putty soon we had about $1,000 of his money; then he struck a lucky streak, an' win it putty near all back again, but he don't quit. an' biomey he lose again, an' he keeps on a-losin' until about five o'clock in the morning, when he gets up an' says he's broke. Aw, how much money do ye suppose we win off that fellow?"

"Oh, about a hundred thousand," gravely remarked the solemn member.

"Probably about a million, if we let you tell it," said the fat member.

Old Scho looked up with an expression evidently intended to be one of injured innocence.

"No, gentlemen," said he, "what I'm telling you is the honest truth. We win just $5,000 and not a cent more."

"Is that all?" asked the short, stout member with the smiling face and the stubby black mustache, in a tone of deep surprise.

Old Scho took a few vigorous puffs at his pipe. Then he began again:

"Say, you people remember the time when they used to deal draw poker around the table, just like stud? Well, in them days they used to give a prize of $100 every week over here in the White house for the best hand held. Well, one Friday night I sit in the game an' putty soon I have four aces. That's the best hand that's been held that week, an' there's only one day left, so my chances of getting the prize is putty good. But a fellow who sits next to me offers me $10 for my chance, an' I says: 'Give's yer $10.' Some of the other fellows says I'm foolish; but I know what I'm doing all the time. I know there ain't nothing more uncertain than cards. Sure enough, before I'd been playing a great while longer I hold a straight flush. An' I sell that too. Aw, I'll be darned if that wasn't bear the next day by a higher straight flush."

"Scho, you're a bird," remarked the fat member with great intensity of feeling, and several of the other members looked at the old man with renewed interest, noticing that he was getting back into his 60-year-old form, when all who know him will acknowledge, he was at his best.

Thus encouraged, and refreshed with a few more vigorous puffs at his pipe, which perceptibly thickened the atmosphere of the room and gave the solemn member a violent fit of coughing, he came once more to the scratch, not the least bit winded:

"The funniest thing I ever had happen to me was one night when I was dealing faro bank in New York. A man came in who said he'd never played faro bank before an' he buys five dollars' worth of chips. He says he only wants to double his money. But he strikes a winning streak an' he keeps on a-playing till he has $97. Then he cashes in an' hand him his money. He takes it an' looks at it a moment; then he hands it back again, all but $10, an' he says to me: 'Here, take your money; I don't want to take no advantage of you. I only wanted to double my money. If it's so easy for a man to win who never played the game before, what must it be for a man who knows how to play?' Well I nearly fell off the chair, but I don't let on that there's anything surprised me. I says to the man: 'My friend, you better take your money; you win it fair an' square, an' you may want it biomey.' But he won't take it, so I put it back in the drawer, an' he walks out."

At this point all the members arose and formed a semicircle in front of the old man, bowed low before him, and then filed out into the silent night.

The Very Best Rule.

Don't torment yourself about what people are going to think about that and action. No matter what you do or leave undone some will criticize you severely, and the very best rule for getting through life with comparative comfort is after you have made up your mind as to the prosperity and advisability of a certain course pursue it calmly, without paying the slightest attention to the criticisms of the lookers-on from the outside. You see, just because they are on the outside they can only see the surface. It does not matter in the least what they think.—Detroit Free Press.

As the distance from Washington to Port Tobacco creek was about 40 miles the intention was to make the entire trip the first night, and crossing the river to be within the lines of the confederacy at the expiration of 24 hours.

The plan was not so ridiculous absurd as at first glance it appears. It was not a difficult matter at that time to pass the pickets stationed at the navy yard bridge, and once in the country, where friends were willing, fresh horses ready, and federal soldiers few, the chances of reaching the Potomac in safety were not unfavorable.

The plot failed because Mr. Lincoln did not go out on the Seventh street road on the afternoon expected. Secretary Chase going in his stead. Booth and his companions returned to Mrs Surratt's disappointed, disgusted and enraged. Such a favorable opportunity would not likely occur again, and the conspirators disbanded. Surratt went to Richmond, Arnold secured a position at Old Point (near Fort Monroe) and O'Laughlin returned to Baltimore; but Payne, Herold and Atzerodt still hovered about their leader awaiting further developments, living at Washington at his expense.—Victor Louis Mason, in Century.

TO ABDUCT LINCOLN.

A Bold Plot of Wilkes Booth's That Mis-carried by mere Accident.

About the middle of March, 1865, word was received from those along the "underground route" that the roads and the time were propitious for undertaking the abduction, and that the horses would be held in readiness for the relays. Accordingly, at Mrs. Surratt's Booth assembled his assistants, John H. Surratt, Payne, Atzerodt, Herold, O'Laughlin and Arnold, all mounted for the kidnapping.

Between two and three o'clock in the afternoon they left the house and made for the Seventh street road, where it was reported that the president would pass that evening on his way to the Seventh street hospital.

Mr. Lincoln would frequently ride out to the soldiers' home on the Seventh street road, entirely unguarded, or, if in a carriage, with only a driver, much against the protestations of his friends, who were fearful for his safety. The coach of the president was to be seized in a secluded spot on the road near the city, and Surratt was to jump on the box (as he was more familiar with the roads) and to make for "T. B.", a collection of two or three houses and stores on the "underground route," about 22 miles southeast of Washington, and thence to the Potomac. The carriage was to be abandoned as soon as the city limits were passed. Relays of fast horses were in readiness, and the boat at Port Tobacco was prepared to cross the river.

AT HOBART'S HOME

Paterson Residents Celebrate His Nomination for Vice-President.

PARADES AFLOAT AND ON TROLLEY CARS

Hundreds of Women on Bicycles Join in the Jollification—Much of the 4th of July Stock of Fire-works Consumed.

Paterson, N. J., June 19.—Mr. Hobart's nomination at St. Louis was celebrated here, in his home, last night with parades on foot and on trolley cars. Hundreds of women on bicycles joined in the jollification and cheered when passing the Hobart mansion on Carroll street. At 10:30 o'clock ten trolley cars, crowded with enthusiastic citizens, were over two of the lines of which the candidate for vice-president is president. Much of the stock of fireworks for the 4th of July celebration was burned in honor of Mr. Hobart's nomination. The jollification continued long into the night.

Garrett A. Hobart was born at Long Branch, N. J. He graduated from Rutgers college before he was twenty years old, and studied law with Socrates Tuttle at Paterson, being admitted to the bar in 1866. In 1872 he was elected a member of the New Jersey house, and was re-elected and chosen speaker. He declined an election in 1873, and in 1877 he was elected senator from Passaic county. He was re-elected to this position and served in the office from that time until the expiration of the year 1882, being president pro tem of the body for the last two years of which he was a member. In 1884 he was nominated for U. S. senator, but was defeated. In 1884 he became a member of the national republican committee. In business life he was active and energetic.

LIKE THE PARENTS

Boys Can Have Their Coffee Now.

When a good healthy boy sits down to his breakfast and sees Pa and Ma having their coffee to dip toast in and sip, he feels slighted that he can't have some too. But parents know that it is really poisonous to children and refuse them. Postum the grain coffee made by Postum Cereal Co. Inc., Battle Creek, Mich., exactly like coffee in looks and yet it is made of the healthful grains and is nourishing and fattening. Boys and girls can drink it every meal if they like. It is simply food of the most nourishing sort but so prepared that it fits the eye of even a careful expert.

Dr. D. Schoene, 1176 Milwaukee Ave., Chicago, says: "I am very much pleased with Postum. It is a delicious drink, and I think preferable to all similar products, such as Health Coffee, Malt, etc."

A reliable grocer will never offer a cheap or weak imitation of a genuine original article because he happens to make a little extra profit. But it is well to observe that when genuine Postum Cereal coffee is ordered, that you get Postum and not a spurious imitation offered as "just as good."

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1896.

Mark Hanna is to have absolute charge of the Republican campaign and the glad tidings have gone out to the "boys" that the national committee will "wallow" in money.

It is a coincidence and perhaps ominous one that the Napoleon of Silence was nominated on the anniversary of the day on which the Great Napoleon met his Waterloo.

The prospects for the triumph of the sound money cause at Chicago are growing brighter daily. The whole aspect of the situation has changed in the last three days. The silverites who, last week, were proudly boastful, have taken alarm and are talking of concessions and compromises while the champions of honest money are cheerful and confident and anxious to fight to a finish.

The resolutions adopted by the Democrats of this Assembly District at today's convention have the right ring. They are outspoken in their demand that New York's representatives in the Democratic national convention shall be loyal to the nation's faith and honor and against any and every form of currency debasement.

Ex-Governor Flower makes the very practical suggestion that, in order to be certain of victory at Chicago, the sound money Democrats of the East must be able to pledge the votes of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut to the nominees of the convention. If assured of the electoral votes of these Eastern States the convention will not be tempted to venture on the risky experiment of seeking votes in the doubtful States of the West by bidding for free silver support.

Senator Henry M. Teller, of Colorado, was yesterday nominated for President "by unanimous" by the Republicans who bolted from the Republican convention. Assurances have been given by the Populist National Committee that the Populists will endorse the nomination and some of the more crazy silverites are going to Chicago with the hope and expectation that they can induce the true silver Democrats to favor a Democratic endorsement of the Colorado Senator's candidacy. Of course this scheme is too visionary for serious consideration. Even the wildest free silver Democrats are not wild enough to accept as a presidential candidate a man who never had an idea in common with Democracy.

The New York delegates are straggling home from St. Louis. All are shouting for McKinley and whetting their knives for use on each other. Warner Miller, John E. Millholland and George E. Matthews, the leaders of the anti-Platt faction, have made up their minds to bury Platt, and Platt is equally determined that there shall be a burial, and he proposes to see that Miller's corpse is ready. The fight will be made at the State convention primaries and district conventions, and will be carried into all the counties of the State. It bids fair to be the bitterest ever known in the history of factional feuds in New York politics. Hanna will no doubt try to make a truce, because of the effect that party disruption will have on the national ticket, but it is not likely that he can succeed. Platt cares more for control of the State organization than he does for the fate of McKinley, and McKinley's professed friends care nothing for McKinley unless they are in a position to control the distribution of federal patronage.

FOR THE MISSION CAUSE.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian Church Holds an Interesting Meeting.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian Church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. J. Giering.

Miss Holmes, a former missionary, gave a very interesting and instructive address on Syrian customs and manner of living. A little girl, dressed in Syrian costume, made the subject more vivid and realistic.

A talk on the Bible then followed, in which many important truths were given.

Some facts concerning the expenses of Americans were quoted: among others mentioned was the immense sum of $22,000 spent annually for chewing gum, while only $14,000,000 is given to missions.

Over fifty members of the society were present. Their thanks to Miss Holmes were expressed by a rising vote. After refreshments and a social hour the society adjourned.

Overcome by the Heat.

E. Wood, an O. and W. trainman, was seized with a fainting spell, caused probably by the heat, just as the train was about to pull out from Wickham avenue, to-day. He fell to the ground and his head struck a stone which cut a gash in his forehead. The wound is not serious, but he did not recover from his sudden illness in time to go out with his train.

A New York Excursion Coming to Midway Park.

Supt. Urban has completed arrangements for a large excursion from New York to Midway. The party will be made up of German societies. The date is not yet fixed.

The New Erie Depot.

Information has been received in this city to the effect that the bids for the new Erie depot have been opened, that four of them are within the appropriation and that the contract will be awarded early next week.

KNOCKED OUT BY MCKINLEY.

Last Night's Demonstration Necessary Postponement of Miss Ambler's Entertainment.

McKinleyism was too much even for the dramatic and pantomime recital of Miss Ambler at the Assembly Rooms, last night. The ratification meeting was held almost under the windows of the Assembly Rooms and the din of tooting horns, shrieking whistles, yells and cat calls of the small boys mingled with the stentorian voices of the speakers, who made a desperate effort to be heard, rendered such an entertainment an impossibility and it was postponed until Monday evening.

Sunday's Services at Grace Church.

The services at Grace Church on Sunday will be conducted by the Rev. Francis Washburn, of Newburgh. Mr. Evans will preach at Liberty.

Another Fire Company Proposed.

A meeting will be held at the Holding House, Monday night, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a new fire company of young men under the name of Protection Hook and Ladder Co., No. 2.

HE'S A FRAUD!
LOOK OUT FOR HIM!

We desire to caution the public against an unscrupulous fellow who sells Flavoring Extracts and Perfumery by measure from house to house. He pretends to represent us, and that the Flavors and other articles are of our manufacture. Beware of him! His story is absolutely false. Neither his Flavoring Extracts nor his Perfumes are of our manufacture, and it is only an attempt by him to sell inferior goods on the reputation which our Flavors have won by many years of merit and purity. Some respectable peddlers sell our Flavors and Perfumes, but only in our regular bottles and never in bulk.

To obtain the genuine Premium Fruit Flavors buy them only in our regular bottles (our name blown in the glass) with our label, and each bottle wrapped in our carton.

PRICE OF COAL TO BE ADVANCED.

It comes to us from a reliable source that those who control the output, the price and transportation of coal, otherwise the coal combine, will advance the wholesale price of coal twenty-five cents a ton in Middletown on July 1st. An advance in the wholesale price necessarily means a corresponding advance by the retailers.

An advance in price is usually made about this time of year to anticipate those who are accustomed to lay in their winter's supply of coal during the summer.

M'KINLEY LEAGUERS SHOW THE "OLD GANG" HOW TO PAINT THE TOWN.

"Chairman" Gibbs and His Band of Tallenders Help Out the Demonstration, But Didn't Buy Their Fireworks at Dayton—Incidents of the Parade—Strange Walking Mates—Official Figures as to the Number of Paraders—The Speakers.

Pursuant to the call of B. S. Dayton, Chairman of the McKinley League, supplemented by an invitation from J. E. Gibbs, "Chairman" (of the Lord knows what,) to "join the celebration" the Republicans of this city whooped it up for McKinley in great and glorious style, last night.

Chairman Dayton who has much to learn about the practical workings of politics might have coppered the colored vote by engaging the Pioneer Band but he hired the 24th Band instead and "Chairman" Gibbs closed a deal with the Pioneers, which will bear fruit of woe for Dayton's Leaguers when they try conclusions with the "old gang" in the Republican primaries. With two bands there was no lack of music though when both bands were playing different tunes at the same time, the harmonies that surged and battled in the evening air were suggestive of the harmony raging in the breasts of the McKinley Leaguers and the Platt contingent.

The parade which formed at the corner of North and Orchard streets was a little slow in getting under way, but Gunther's was near and therefore the paraders didn't mind the delay. It made more enthusiasm possible.

When the parade finally started it was in this order: "Billie" Seeholzer's bicycle brigade, "Billie" himself riding modestly in the rear, perhaps to see that none of his wheelmen got away or dropped out of line; the 24th Band; the McKinley Leaguers, headed by Chairman Dayton, Vice Chairman S. R. Morgan and Secretary George W. Powers; Pioneer Band; the tail to Dayton's kite, headed by "Chairman" Gibbs, Mayor Stansbury, A. V. Powers and J. E. Corwin.

The parade was really a very creditable one. It was strong in numbers and there was no lack of enthusiasm. Chairman Dayton has every reason to feel proud and satisfied with the result of his maiden effort as an organizer of political demonstrations. There were fireworks in abundance, but we regret to say that, inspired by a mean fictional spirit, "Chairman" Gibbs's gang didn't buy their supply at Dayton's bazaar. They claim that they got lower prices at a rival shop. We have the word of a close friend of Chairman Dayton that he has already communicated with the silent man at Canton and expects, in a few days, a ukase from Boss Hanna ordering all Republicans to buy fireworks at the ten cent bazaar, thus insuring him "protection" from the ruinous competition of rival dealers, who are not in politics.

CENTURY OF PHRENOLOGY.

One Hundred Years Have Passed Since the Science Was Discovered.

It is a century since the worthy and ingenious Dr. Francois Joseph Gall, the father of "bumpology," as the scoffers are fond of calling it, first introduced his infant cranium into an unbelieving world. Little did parents and nurses who stroked that inspired billiard ball imagine that it potentially contained a complete map of itself, so to speak, and to its subsequent investigations or speculations mankind would be indebted for the successful localization of every human propensity — and some others in its own special and peculiar allotment, or small holding, in the human skull. When we consider the many spirited leaps by which alone the great phrenologist and his followers have landed at their successive conclusions, we shall not hesitate to admit that this famous scientific steeplechase is well worthy to be held in remembrance, even after 100 years. First it had to be assumed that each of the various faculties and activities of the mind is specifically allotted to a particular portion of cerebral tissue; secondly that the degree of power which it possesses is determined not by the quality, but by the quantity of such cerebral tissue, and thirdly that the measure of this quantity is in every case indicated by a protuberance on the outer surface of the skull. That it would follow from this that the most versatile of mankind would have the largest number of bumps; that the eminent possessor of a single gift, who was weak, as many such persons are, in other respects, would have a head composed of virtually one enormous bump, and that the world-genius, to whom the ages occasionally give birth, possessing both wide variety and commanding strength of intellect, would present a simply hydrocephalous appearance — these are consequences of his theories which have never troubled that portion of the phrenologist's brain-pain in which his logical faculty is neatly stowed away. The bump that rises like a memorial tumult over the grave of his reasoning capacity has never been disturbed by these difficulties for a moment.

No would we ourselves say anything to dash the hopefulness of the enthusiasts who are just now celebrating the 100th birthday of Dr. Gall. A scruples of conviction which has sustained itself on nothing since the first promulgation of the phrenologist's doctrines cannot, indeed, be easy to disconcert, rather it is likely to find confirmation in every fresh advance of science, and one is not surprised to hear, therefore, that these sanguine theorists are looking confidently to electrography as a new ally. "Whatever leaps leaps to light" under the X rays, they feel assured that their master "never can be shamed." When Roentgen has at last effected his quasi-subterranean entrance through the scullery wall into the interior of the cranial mansion, it will be a great day entirely for the phrenologist. For he will find all the domestic arrangements exactly as Dr. Gall and his school have described them. "Order" and "Locality" and "Philoprogenitiveness" and all the rest of them will be discovered in the places respectively assigned to them and will at once be recognizable for what they are. The correctness of the well-known "bump chart" which the cartographers of phrenology mapped out long ago on the surface of the cranium will be triumphantly vindicated, and the mockers will be forever put to confusion. The only thing which will then remain to be proved will be the practical utility of the science, and this no doubt will present little difficulty to a school of theorists who have already proved so much.

Its value for educational purposes, however, will still have to be established. The phrenologist should not be satisfied until he has given to his science that last touch of exactitude which consists in rendering it predictive. Analysis of the adult brain is, after all, a mere scientific pastime. It would be interesting, but no more than interesting, to ascertain that "Paradise Lost" was generated in a particular bump on Milton's skull, and that another protuberance under the hat of John Hampden gave birth to his heroic resolve to oppose the unconstitutional policy of Charles I. What we want to do is to catch our Hampdens young in their native villages, and to insure that the embryo Miltons of the future shall not die "mute and inglorious" through the nonrecognition of their nascent powers. The phrenologist, therefore, has got to show that the genius of the great puritan poet would have revealed itself to a skilled manipulator of his cranium in his cradle, and that the spirit which impelled the parliamentary patriot to resist the impost of ship money might have been detected by a phrenological nurse in the act of brushing his hair.—London Telegraph.

Celebrating a King's Coronation.

Several weeks ago a new king, Angoose, ascended the throne of the Indian dominion on Kake island, Alaska, and for four weeks the whole tribe was engaged in a grand potlatch celebrating the event. There were wild orgies, followed by severe fasts, dancing that was kept up day and night, and a general wild celebration that left the whole tribe in a state of collapse. Every day ten in the morning the bucks assembled on the beach, and, no matter how cold the weather nor how much snow on the ground and ice in the water, would strip and plunge into the ocean. Then they would dance until they fell from exhaustion. When able to walk again they would take more icy baths. Some 150 gallons of bad whisky were drunk during the potlatch, and at the close of the celebration Angoose tore up 800 pairs of blankets, for what reason is not clear.—Chicago Chronicle.

Douglas Jerrold, the noted contributor to that most dismal of all English publications, the never-ought-to-be-admired Punch, wrote over the name of "Barabbas Whitefeather." The name was a coinage of his own.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

The invention of Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., has, during the past thirty years, made a record in the cure of bronchial, throat and lung diseases that fairly entitles it to outrank all other advertised remedies for these afflictions. Especially has it manifested its potency in cutting consumption of the lungs.

Not every case, but we believe

of all cases of consumption, in all its earlier stages, are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? We need not take our word for it. They have been nearly every instance, save a few, treated by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have had interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses, in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsions" and mixtures, had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extracts of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, chronic catarrh and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a book of 1000 pages which will be mailed to you, on receipt of ad dress and 25 cents in stamps to cover postage and wrapping only. You can then write those cured and learn their experience.

Almost Distracted?

Did you ever suffer from real nervousness? When every nerve seemed to quiver with a peculiar, creepy feeling, first in one place, and then another and all seemed finally to concentrate in a writhing jumble in the brain, and you became irritable, fretful and peevish; to be followed by an impotent, weakened condition of the nerve centers, ringing in the ears, and sleepless, miserable nights?

Dr. Miles' Mrs. Eugene Seales,

110 Simonot St., Elkhart, Ind., says:

"Nervous troubles had made me nearly insane and physicians were unable to help me. My memory was almost gone and every little thing worried me until I was almost distracted. I really feared I was becoming a maniac. I imagined all sorts of evil things and would cry over nothing. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and four bottles of this wonderful remedy completely cured me, and I am as well now as I ever was."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on guarantee, first bottle will refund or money refunded.

THE COMMON COUNCIL.

PROCEEDINGS OF AN ADJOURNED REGULAR MEETING.

McKinleyism Again Prevents the Transaction of Business—Bids for Street Lighting Opened—Mr. Reed Has a Burden on His Mind and Council Adjourns to Let Him Get Rid of It.

An adjourned regular meeting of the Common Council was held, last night. Present, President Dorrance and Aldermen Abrams, Bowler, Funnell, Hirst, Reed and Mance.

The reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

W. B. Royce, Esq., presented releases of certain streets in the Gardner tract and stated the primary object of asking their acceptance was to get water into them. The streets were Woodlawn, Gardner and Horton avenues.

On Mr. Reed's motion bids for street lighting were opened. They were as follows:

ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

35, 1,200 candle power arc lights per year each..... $105.00

50 arc. same power..... 97.50

75 " " ..... 92.50

100 " " ..... 87.50

75, 32 candle power incandescent lamps per year each..... 16.00

100 incandescent, same power..... 15.75

125 " " ..... 15.50

150 " " ..... 15.25

The same company also proposed to light the entire city with 100 arc. and 150 incandescent lamps for $85 each for arc and $15 each for incandescent lamps, the lamps to burn all night and every night.

MIDDLETOWN GAS CO.

75 to 90 lamps, each..... $2.50

100 to 150 " " ..... 2.30

Over 200 " " ..... 2.10

Welsbach lamps any number over 75 at $35 each, lamps to burn all night and every night.

SATINIA CO.

Any number, not less than 25 Welsbach lamps at $35; if at any time 150 or more are used the rate is to be $32 each; 150 or more naptha lamps at $22 each per year. Lamps to burn every night and all night.

HAS A BURDEN ON HIS MIND.

Mr. Reed rose immediately after the reading of the bids and said the matter of lighting the streets had "burdened his mind" for some time and he hadn't come to any conclusion yet, and he made a motion that a committee of five of which the president should be one, be appointed to consider the question and report at an adjourned meeting.

The president named as his associates on the committee Messrs. Reed, Bowler, Mance and Funnell.

Mr. Reed then moved an adjournment until Monday night, and as quickly as possible joined the McKinley boosters and proceeded to get that burden off his mind.

SAW A HORSELESS WAGON.

A Joke on a Well Known Orange County Creameryman.

From the Go-Home Independent.

New Paltz, like all other places, has its jokers. Here is a story which the Times, of that place, regards as funny, notwithstanding the fact that it affects the dignity of one of Orange county's well known citizens: "Mr. George Slaughter, of Campbell Hall, Orange county, was in New Paltz, the past week. While here he became very much interested in horseless wagons, several being used in different places. When informed of one passing, he made a rush for the window and discovered that a yoke of oxen was drawing a wagon, which, of course, was without horses—but that wasn't the kind of horseless wagon he expected to see. But he saw the joke just the same, but did not smile."

A HOUSE WARMING.

Pain in the Back.

Port Jervis, N. Y., June 2, 1896.—My father was very sick with typhoid fever, which left him with a severe pain in his back, and he could not walk without difficulty. He did not get better until he began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, but this medicine has cured him, and he is now well and able to work every day.—Lela M. Johnson, 7 Jones street.

THE SWINDLE IN FREE COINAGE

The following little study of the silver question in the Boston Transcript is well worth reading:

"This is a statement of the silver question in a nutshell: One ounce of gold, American coin standard of fineness, that is, 900 parts or pure gold to 100 of alloy, will coin in gold dollars $18.50. Sixteen ounces of silver, American coin standard of fineness, that is, 900 parts of pure silver to 100 of alloy, at the rate of 412½ grains to the dollar (the weight of the present standard silver dollar) will coin $18.50 in silver dollars. These 16 ounces of silver can be bought in the markets of the world, to-day, for $9.94. There would, therefore, be a profit of $8.66 on an investment of $9.94, being about 87 per cent. If a holder of silver could take it to the mint and coin it without charge into silver dollars. That is all there is to the silver question at its centre—the active centre, whence comes the energy in means to keep orators, editors and politicians at work bewailing the wrongs to silver, and persuading the poor that their woes are due to the goldbugs of Wall street, in order thus to cover up the bald swindle of the great silver producing capitalists and their conspiracy to monopolize the great republic."

THE ROYAL ROAD.

Good Food is the Only Way.

It's a man's bad habits that hurt him more than over-work. The little habits of coffee and tobacco hurt worse than some of the big ones, because they are continued more steadily than the greater habits. Many a man is simply poisoned to death by the alkaloids of coffee and tobacco and never will believe what is hurting him. Let him quit tobacco and use Postum Cereal, the food drink, in place of coffee and very soon he finds that nature, this great restorer, is at work. No medicine is needed, simply quit doing those things which poison and waste the energy, and let nature build into body and brain from good food. Postum is made entirely of grains by the Postum Cereal Co., of Battie Creek, Mich., and is nourishing and fattening. Use plain, common food and the food-drink (it looks like coffee but is not.) Health will come and be of much more solid character than when patched up with drugs.

Mrs. Milton F. Bull, of near this place, is visiting friends in Brooklyn.

Just as good as Postum Cereal are words used to demand the public:

Arrested for Stealing a Ride.

Officer Skelton arrested a man for stealing a ride on an O. & W. train and brought him before the Recorder, this morning. The man said he was too weak to walk as he had eaten nothing since last Tuesday. He was given his breakfast and discharged.
